

OER CHECKLIST - Authoring Tool

Evaluator Name: Eva Egensteiner

Date: July 11, 2025

Title and Type of Media:

Visual Storytelling for Civic Engagement Micro-Lesson #1

Resource URL:

<https://360.articulate.com/review/content/0e097292-9cd1-425e-a42e-4fbbb7e89188/review>

License (Creative Commons, shareware, etc.)

The AI-generated images and graphics are free.

The infographic I created is CC-BY-NC-SA

Accessibility (an area for the accessibility/ADA compliance of the resource)

In process but should be complaint

English language appropriateness for non-native speakers (look/listen for challenging terminology and jargon, is Global English used?)

Simple clear language was used in the minicourse video.

Content Connections / Relevance

I used Articulate to build this lesson. This minilesson will cover 2 of the Learning Objectives for the course. It takes the students step by step through the process and provides instructions that would be shared with the students as well as guidance for the instructions for each step in the process.

Quality of Materials

Good Quality

Summary/Comments (an area for the person evaluating the resource to include comments and a summary of the evaluation).

- As I was creating the assignment, I was able to really clarify the steps and expand on the instructions and expectations. I found this process very useful, and it contributed to the clarity of the lesson.
- I used Articulate for this assignment since my institution uses this software, and I had not yet tried it. I found a template that worked relatively well, but I had to edit it quite a bit. I also had a bit of a learning curve, but I am proud that I met this goal.
- The users will interact with the e-learning by using the audio links, flipcards as discussion prompts and a checklist.